| Entity Mission/BackgrounddClimate is a transparent, decentralized marketplace that allows participants to buy and share data and contribute to an open ecosystem of data-driven climate resilience applications. dClimate will end the stagnation in the industry and bring increased access, lower costs, better security, better accuracy, and both wider and deeper data coverage. Climate data is a fragmented and unverified space that is in desperate need of innovation. Many parts of the planet lack high-resolution coverage of weather which hampers climate change adaption, crop yield improvements, and overall economic development. Currently, due to a lack of marketplace, acquiring climate data is only offered in a direct-to-customer model that is expensive and opaque. There are also no technical standards for climate data causing it to be confusing, idiosyncratic, and requires a large amount of work by specialists to prepare for applications. The integrity of the data is questionable and in need of reform. |                                                                                         |

| Reason for Meeting RequestI would like to confirm the licensing required to be able to offer retail traders access to leverage on exchange traded commodities, example being bitcoin futures and bitcoin options and leveraged bitcoin spot market trading. We believe the licensing required is a DCM. Are we correct? Happy to have a conversation with whomever in your office to determine the best path forward. We intend to get a legal opinion from outside counsel before pursuing this path but want to narrow the request to them as best as possible prior to engaging for that matter. |                                                                                         |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundRares' mission is to provide investment access and opportunity to cultural ideas and relics that have transcended into investment grade alternative assets. Rares created the first SEC regulated marketplace to allow individuals to invest in their favorite collectible sneakers via fractional ownership. |                                                                                         |
| Reason for Meeting RequestRares is looking to scale into other alternative asset classes and regulatory opportunities that allow our user base additional investment access and opportunities. Becoming a regulated Prediction Market platform that focuses on the sneaker culture and popular culture is our next goal.               |                                                                                         |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundWe operate a fintech platform primarily for wholesale equity derivative participants, primarily in Europe, but also in Asia and North America. OTC or block trades that were arranged via voice brokerage, can be booked in our platform for internal record keeping, sending on to MarkitSERV for trader ratification, emailed as PDFs, etc. We also help Tier 1 market participants to have a full real-time visibility of brokerage fee compliance with their rate card, etc. via ML processing of their PDFs sent via email. BrokerHub Limited was founded in 2001 and is an English company. |                                                                                         |
| Reason for Meeting RequestWe are assisting a few NY based brokerage desks with CAT reporting, and other daily IT needs (within the wholesale equity derivs space). I think our platform may be useful in the US market and as a test-bed for trying out new tech and workflows -- like reporting to a distributed ledger, reg-tech, etc. If your team has the bandwidth - would appreciate making contact. | Entity Mission/BackgroundWe are conducting a research project supported by the state of New Jersey, to investigate the potential for exchange-traded derivatives to invigorate and expand markets for recyclable materials in New Jersey. As you might know, the market for recyclables in the US has recently collapsed due to a number of immediate factors, but has long suffered from an inefficient and opaque market. We are looking to develop a model derivatives exchange for the state that will ensure more consistent and transparent pricing and availability of post-consumer materials. This will benefit both sellers (towns, counties, processing firms, etc) and buyers (manufacturers who want to use recyclables). This is highly innovative work that can transform the operations of markets for recyclables and highlight New Jersey as a global innovator. |                                                                                       |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundCreating a hedging product for Bitcoin miners. Our product is an ERC20 token with a payout that is determined by the BTC network hash rate. This enables miners to hedge their operation and invest with a level of certainty about their returns.                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                        |
| Reason for Meeting RequestWe wanted to understand potential regulations that could be applied to our hedging product (an ERC20 token). Additionally, we wanted to enable trading of the token on our website using the 0x protocol (a set of smart contracts that allow cryptocurrencies to be exchanged on the Ethereum network). Our website would essentially be a frontend that connects to the 0x protocol. |                                                                                        |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundLukka is a technology and data services company that delivers institutional solutions to digital asset market participants, including some of the largest funds, fund administrators, trading firms, exchanges, OTC desks, accounting firms, miners and protocol businesses in the digital assets industry.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |                                                                                        |
| Reason for Meeting RequestLukka would welcome the chance to discuss its reference data and pricing products that institutions use in their trading activity. The reference data product covers 5,000+ unique digital assets, mapped to 80+ different sources and exchanges, 26,000+ crypto trading pairs mapped, and an incremental 27,000+ derivatives on different exchange. The product also accounts for differences in ticker / naming conventions for the same digital asset. Lukka would also discuss its pricing product that provides price transparency for actively traded crypto assets that combines data directly from exchanges and third-party sources in order to provide organizations with consistent prices and values across a global set of crypto data for more than 550 crypto and digital assets. This core product will be augmented in October 2020 with pricing capabilities for thousands of illiquid, or thinly-traded, assets. |                                                                                        |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundZenHedge is an early stage FinTech startup on a mission to bring financial tools used by Wall Street to Main Street businesses via automated solutions that are simple, credible, and affordable. The ever-increasing complexity, volume, and velocity of data that can influence commodity markets and therefore, commodity hedging decisions means that advanced technology tools such as Robotic Process Automation (RPA), Artificial Intelligence (AI), and Machine Learning (ML) are ripe for adoption. ZenHedge's goal is to be a catalyst in that adoption journey. ZenHedge plans to offer commodity hedging advice to underserved customers, at scale, using automation and digital technologies that solve the painful problem of understanding the complex world of commodity markets. ZenHedge will perform the tedious task of collecting and organizing market data and develop decision engines that will provide the user customized commodity, currency, and interest rate hedging strategies. |                                                                                        |

| Reason for Meeting RequestVoxSmart has several global clients where the product coverage includes US personnel, and VoxSmart also offers global products (i.e. Trade Reconstruction) which are directly responsive to CFTC regulations. Enabled through our most recent, successful, round of capital raising, the company is actively marketing into the Americas region, with a focus on the US and Canada. To add, VoxSmart is a key service provider globally, and so the company is regularly engaged in client discussions and broader industry events driving best practices. Lastly, VoxSmart has just announced a cooperative arrangement with Eventus, a well-known trade surveillance company based in the US. So it is key that the CFTC understands who we are, and what we do, and is presented to directly. |                                                                                        |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundGeoGuard and GeoComply are sister companies, with a footprint across more than 40 U.S. states, designed to provide cyber-security systems robust enough to defeat geolocation spoofing tools used to circumvent legal and other security measures for compliance purposes. GeoGuard provides a suite of geolocation-based solutions that are combined with human intelligence to stop internet users from spoofing their location. Our software is installed in over 300 million devices worldwide, putting GeoGuard in a uniquely powerful position to identify and counter both the current and newly emerging geolocation fraud threats. In the financial services, payments and fintech sectors, GeoGuard focuses on geolocation-based protection where the value of authenticated, multi-source geolocation data (i.e. GPS, WiFi Triangulation and GSM) is recognized as part of robust Know Your Customer (KYC) and Customer Due Diligence (CDD) measures.                                                              |                                                                                        |
| Reason for Meeting RequestWe wanted to reach out following the recent CFTC Technology Advisory Committee Meeting held on July 16, 2020. We found the meeting extremely insightful and informative, particularly the discussion around CBDCs and helping to foster inclusion for the unbanked and underbanked in the financial sector. Financial inclusion is an issue that deeply concerns us, particularly in light of millions of U.S. citizens being unable to receive their much-needed stimulus payments amid the COVID-19 pandemic. We know that multi-source geolocation data would be a valuable tool in improving financial inclusion, as it is a valuable data point for digital identity authentication. Leveraging geolocation as a critical data point would expand the avenues to authenticate digital identity for those who may have been previously excluded (for example, for not having an extensive credit history). We would welcome the opportunity to share our thoughts and research on this critical issue with the CFTC Lab. |                                                                                        |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundThe Global DCA is the global self-regulatory association for the digital asset &amp; cryptocurrency industry. It was established to guide the evolution of digital assets, cryptocurrencies, and the underlying blockchain technology within a regulatory framework designed to build public trust, foster market integrity and maximize economic opportunity for all participants. Our broad-based membership includes spot and derivative exchanges, proprietary trading firms, traders, investors, asset managers, brokerage firms, FCMs, custodians, decentralized technology organizations, banks, legal firms, audit firms, insurance professionals, academics, consultants, &amp; media. To fulfill its mission, the Global DCA devises standards and consensus-based solutions that address the major challenges facing the digital asset and cryptocurrency industry. We collaborate with stakeholders around the world, industry leaders and policymakers to support the growth of the global digital economy.                             |                                                                                         |
| Reason for Meeting RequestTo provide CFTC with an update on our activities and to offer assistance on any upcoming policy issues / regulatory questions, etc. Since we last spoke, our supporters have organized as a 501(c)6 organization in the state of DE, elected an interim Board of Directors, and adopted key governance documents (Bylaws, Code of Conduct, Arbitration Rules, and Anti-Trust Policy). At the beginning of last month we undertook our 'soft launch' of the Global Digital Asset and Cryptocurrency Association (formerly the High Level Working Group on Digital Assets) and began laying the foundation for our formal launch at the beginning of October. I would very much like the opportunity to speak with you regarding our achievements to date and our focus on advancing 'balanced regulation' which promotes innovation and development in the industry while balancing the need for protection of consumers and the public interest. | Reason for Meeting RequestI would love to have a meeting between you and LabCFTC so that you can share your work that you are doing with MIT on advancing the Central Bank Digital Currency (CBDC) in the Federal Reserve System. I know you are in the early stages but I think your project would be of great interest to folks at LabCFTC. I would also welcome the opportunity to introduce you to our director, Melissa Netram. |                                                                                         |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundCEO of a (yet known) Ideas Based Business which has created a way to transfer any denomination (of any US or our Allies) Banknote "Virtually". Currently the CFTC deals with Cryptocurrency and now Digital Dollars...what I am proposing is a way to Virtually transfer the Alphanumerical "letter and numbers on Banknotes (same as cash).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |                                                                                         |
| Reason for Meeting RequestLab CFTC need to track/verify Cryptocurrency and possible Digital Dollars "Crypto" codes...that will be difficult unless CFTC can "certify the exchange" online. CFTC needs to work closely with the Crypto "form of" Currency being electronically transferred...that is why my LLC is offering the United States Government my US (or Universal Dollar Bill) IOU$ (or Individually Owned Universal Dollar Bill)...along with the LLC and Domain Names which will allow America to remain the US$ World Reserve Currency and challenge Chinas Digital Dollar...who by the way do not have alphanumerical letters or numbers (where as Hong Cong and Taiwan do). |                                                                                         |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundGood day, I've just founded a start up, Bet The Close, which is currently in the development stage. The goal is to create a new wagering environment whereby users could wager real money or fictitious money (as an educational instrument) on a number of fantasy style games which use the closing prices of US Stocks or Indexes in order to determine the winners of the games. Neither the company, nor any player in these games will own a security, swap, option, etc...we are simply proposing using the closing prices as the "score" to determine our winners. I have no interest in breaking the law and hope these games could be used in schools all over the country. I am thus reaching out to you prior to moving forward. Thank you in advance. |                                                                                        |
| Reason for Meeting RequestI understand that the CFTC has specific laws/rules about securities and I want to ensure my games are not contrary to those rules.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                        |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundOur team is developing OptionBlox, a platform for writing, trading, and exercising financial derivatives on Stellar's decentralized ledger. OptionBlox uses a unique smart contract protocol to make these derivatives trust-free as well as ledger-based. Our protocol's smart contracts are stored on a decentralized server network and perform contract operations, such as writing, execution, and settlement. Contract underlying assets and terms are stored on and enforced by Stellar's ledger. By taking these measures, OptionBlox enables decentralized derivatives that have no need for facilitating central parties. Additionally, our protocol tokenizes derivative contracts, allowing them to be traded on any centralized or decentralized exchange, and even stored offline. Overall, OptionBlox enables a massive decentralization of the derivatives ecosystem, which comes with benefits such as improved derivative market accessibility, flexibility, and efficiency. |                                                                                         |
| Reason for Meeting RequestOur platform is completely decentralized. OptionBlox will not serve as custodian for user funds or accounts. Additionally, we will have no control over contracts after we develop smart contracts to allow users to interact with them. Essentially all OptionBlox will do once the platform is launched is provide a web-app that makes it simple for anyone to interact with our protocol. It will be entirely possible for users to use our protocol to write and execute derivatives without using our website, or any other website for that matter. Given the decentralized nature of our product, and our lack of control over it once it's developed, we have been unsure where we stand from a regulatory perspective. Meeting with you would allow us to fully explain the nuances of our platform and gain an understanding of how we can ensure our platform complies with regulations.                                                                                          |                                                                                         |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundOistrakh Capital is a liquidity provider looking to enter the crypto derivatives market. We're in process of raising a new international fund with a US based feeder and subadvisor.                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                         |
| Reason for Meeting RequestAs we're in process of raising a new international fund, I wanted to proactively reach out to ensure our practices are CFTC compliant. I'm looking to speak with someone about how we might legally trade on crypto platforms like Deribit and Uniswap, if some of our directors and investors are based in the US. |                                                                                         |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundEigen Tech helps firms like Goldman and Blackrock unlock their data to deliver time and cost savings, while reducing risk and allowing greater focus on value-add activities. Our AI-powered software solution is used to extract specific pieces of information from documents by understanding context. The flexibility of our platform allows you to ask any question of any of your document/agreement types, without having to train on hundreds or thousands of your own documents (we only require 2-50 documents). The platform was built with non-technical users in mind, meaning that you don't have to be a data scientist to operate the platform. |                                                                                                |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundUncharted Software provides profoundly visual software for improved awareness, analysis and decision-making used by hundreds of thousands in government, law enforcement and finance. We go beyond standard business intelligence to answer complex questions based on large scale data. With more than 20 years of practice Uncharted has developed rare, world-leading abilities to design and craft the right visual analysis to the toughest problems.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                         |
| Reason for Meeting RequestWe have pioneered several research initiatives for DARPA, some of which have been productized into deployed solutions for anti-human trafficking and anti-money-laundering. Further, we have pioneered capabilities in our research platforms for the visual analysis of large scale data, such as social media robot analysis, large scale social networks, bitcoin transaction analysis, and so on. Based our experience in capital markets - with data providers, sell side, buy side, hedge funds and regulators - leads us to believe our unique platforms and approaches may be applicable to some of the analyses at CFTC, such as the article in WSJ Oct 6, 2020 regarding spoofing at JP Morgan. For example, we have looked at past applications to visualizing limit order books in great detail, and a wide variety of other capital markets data, including tick data, news, social media, geographic data, and so on. |                                                                                         |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundR3 is an enterprise blockchain software firm working with a broad ecosystem of partners across multiple industries from both private and public sectors to develop on Corda, its open source blockchain platform, and Corda Enterprise, a commercial version of Corda. Based in New York City, R3's global team of over 400 professionals in 14 countries is supported by more than 2,000 technology, financial, and legal experts drawn from its global member base. Integral parts of R3's ecosystem are governments and regulators, who are key to our approach to innovation. We engage with the public sector at all levels, having met with well over 200 globally to date. Such engagement has allowed for the incorporation of key regulatory requirements into the design of Corda and facilitated public sector work on Corda as well. |                                                                                        |
| Reason for Meeting RequestDuring the meeting we will present our work in the public sector, explain regulator nodes, and discuss how to approach innovation (including consortium building, use case identification, and how governments around the world engage with tech and tech companies).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |                                                                                        |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundTransparent is a Seattle-based software firm working with several leading financial institutions and fintech firms to launch a payments network that leverages cryptography and distributed ledger technology to facilitate on-demand settlement of transactions between users.                                                                      |                                                                                       |
| Reason for Meeting RequestAn opportunity for a brief meeting to walk you through an explanation of the product, explain how the transactions network will operate, and the roles and responsibilities of the various participants. We would also like to share the work the company is doing to help facilitate access to on-demand settlement solutions for community banks. |                                                                                       |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundMultipiece Exchange has a concept to offer instruments linked to music artists intellectual property rights in their content. By allowing the trading of instruments linked to these rights, fans can purchase instruments related to their favorite musicians, and musicians' rights can be traded. |                                                                                       |
| Reason for Meeting RequestWe seek to explore various avenues by which to offer these rights, either individually or as fractional interests in pools of these rights. The exchange would then become the venue in which the instruments linked to these rights can be traded.                                                 |                                                                                       |

With more than 20 years of practice, Uncharted has developed rare, world-leading abilities to design and craft the right visual analysis to the toughest capital markets investigation problems.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                      |
| Reason for Meeting RequestThis is a follow-on to our first meeting in Dec 2020 with Melissa, Chris and Bianca regarding our capabilities visualizing and analyzing large scale data such as order books and trades across markets, plus news and social media. There was interest in 2 use cases: 1. Aligning and viewing data across related markets. We discussed viewing and interacting with data across markets, such as e.g. cash, derivatives. We can show and discuss example work with multiple time-aligned orderbooks; option matrixes, etc. 2. Text and Market Data. We discussed collecting, combining and analyzing different datasets including quantitative data and unstructured data. We showed 2 examples - to aid analysis of patterns and automated anomaly detection in timeseries across all datasets. Both of the above we can provide additional examples of past work (see attachment, with additional slides 2 & 3), and provide more detailed discussion of our capabilities and CFTC potential needs in these areas. |                                                                                      |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundTradeX uses proven technology for immutable tracing and data delivery. Our proprietary workflow securely shares across platforms internally or externally. Different from existing market data solutions, TradeX delivers data transparency with no restrictions to file type or size and operates without ever holding your data. Two of the founders are legacy CME Group where they first became aware of this problem. We are trying to innovate in this space with encryption and distributed ledger technology. |                                                                                       |

| Fintech Focus AreaThe Multipiece concept is an exchange that would trade the underlying property interests in intellectual property created by musicians, and allow those musicians to monetize those interests by selling whole or fractional interests therein. Ownership of these interests include the right to receive the relevant royalty streams associated with the interests, which are collected and distributed by the various Performance Rights Organizations (e.g., ASCAP or BMI). Due to this existing structure, the exchange will have no role in collecting or enforcing the royalty payments, and will serve only as a means for the artists to sell their IP, analogous to an Ebay-type exchange used to sell these property rights. |                                                                                       |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundFor the last 3 years, Upheaval has been privately developing a blockchain platform unlike anything that's been built before. IronWeave is built to handle large scale enterprise and government use, but easy enough for individual use as well. Our patented shared-block architecture means no limit on scale, blockchains, customizations, or applications. For many entities, data is now the most valuable asset. It is our mission to help all entities and individuals secure and permanently save their data in an environment that allows permissioned and private sharing. |                                                                                        |
| Reason for Meeting RequestWe are interested in learning more about the CFTC and LabCFTC missions to help determine if our IronWeave blockchain technology would benefit the markets you serve, as well as the CFTC itself.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                        |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundArgus is the first automated solution for employee trade compliance in crypto. We want to move exchanges, funds, etc. away from Excel lists and quarterly PDF uploads to a systematic control of risk. We see key internal advantages to reduce workloads for compliance and employees, while making infraction spotting more rigorous through automation. But we also anticipate external benefits, from clearer processes to show regulators at an audit to differentiating with potential customers (as with Gemini's SOC 2).                                                       |                                                                                       |
| Reason for Meeting RequestOn the suggestion of our lawyer, Daniel Nathan at Orrick, we're hoping to discuss our product with the CFTC as one of the world's leading regulators - and LabCFTC specifically due to the leading role in crypto regulation. We hope our objectives closely align with yours given our interest in cleaner, fairer markets. And we're building primarily for crypto companies operating in the United States since we're an American company (b)(6) (b)(6). We'd be grateful for insights about how to make our product as compliant with regulation and best practice as possible.' |                                                                                       |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundWe have designed a digitally native automation platform that leverages blockchain hyper-ledger technology to manage compliance and regulation enforcement, and, as a byproduct, the ingested data also provides predictive analytics. The algorithmic technology simplifies the overly burdensome, complex, and inefficient processes currently being utilized by enforcement agencies to try and keep up with the fast-paced cash and cryptocurrency-heavy criminal enterprises. Our platform automates the compliance and regulatory checks needed to trace the provenance of transactions back to their source; be it a financial institution, corporation, individual, or even a foreign government. By initiating transactions through our platform we can automate pre-determined checks and identify the chain of custody to determine developing trends that might be of particular concern for agencies like CFTC, SEC, and the OCC. |                                                                                        |
| Reason for Meeting RequestOur intent is to begin discussions around a requirements definition for what exactly enforcement agencies are looking for to regulate commodities as they are battling Trade-Based Money Laundering and other high-risk transactions like crypto. What is it that an agency like yours really need? We are looking to partner so we would welcome others from the Commission to be involved in the meeting, especially those from Enforcement.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                        |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundAretec is a mature 8(a) small business specializing in the development of advanced analytic platforms for regulatory agencies that change how our customers look at their data to glean valuable insights within the information. Today, our organization supports the regulatory compliance mission of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA), among others. We support use of open source technologies and cloud-based solutions to reduce operating cost and advance the value proposition of automated solutions – the insights they provide to aid federal investigators, regulators, and examiners in their important missions. |                                                                                         |
| Reason for Meeting RequestTechnology demonstration. Our team at Aretec has developed a fully integrated artificial intelligence (AI) platform called Context that takes the complexity out of AI. Context gives organizations control over their data and analytically empowers their workforces so that anyone can work with AI without understanding code. Our user-centered design, along with industry-leading AI models, allow organizations to upload, organize and analyze their unstructured datasets without any need to develop code or AI/ML models.                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                         |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundTo launch a sports betting derivative exchange in line with my white paper, "Wagering and Wall Street, An Inevitable Encounter" which can be found on UNLV's website: https://www.unlv.edu/icgr/research/white-papers . |                                                                                         |
| Reason for Meeting RequestTo discuss filing and approval process for a bet derivative exchange. I have already discussed the legality of the exchange with current and past regulators of two major gaming states, I now would like to do the same with CFTC.                                                  |                                                                                         |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundLODE Payments International was formed to build a digital payments platform that will challenge the current financial payment industry with the goal to connect general consumers, small businesses and the underbanked to a financial system that will better serve their needs (the “LODE Payments Platform”). The LODE Payments Platform is intended to be a fully-integrated technical platform for connecting merchants, card issuers, payment gateways, processors, telecommunications companies, and banks to the “LODE Ecosystem” a collectively organized distributed ecosystem comprised of two cryptographic assets, AUX Coin and AGX Coin, each backed by physically vaulted gold and silver bullion, respectively through the integration and development of various API’s, gateways and rail systems. |                                                                                      |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundWould like to discuss where our firm is currently at and some discussions centered around the beginning stages of the regulatory process and implementation of end of year annual requirements. Also speak about developments in the fin-tech space and discussions on digital assets. |                                                                                          |
| Reason for Meeting RequestWe had a previous meeting with several LabCFTC members in February 2021 as we were going through the regulation process with NFA. Also had follow up with Chris Goodman after meeting. Would like to follow up with your team. Thank you.                                             |                                                                                          |

| Reason for Meeting RequestI am writing to you on behalf of Georg Sparber, Ambassador of Liechtenstein to the US. He would like to know if representatives of LabCFTC would be available to meet on January 26 or 27. He would be joined by Thomas Dünser, Director of the Liechtenstein Office for Financial Market Innovation. Mr. Dünser has been the driving force behind the development and introduction of the Liechtenstein Blockchain Act, the first comprehensive regulatory framework of the token economy in the world. It covers not only Crypto-Assets, but all forms of application of the blockchain-technology, including due diligence. Both gentlemen would like to share expertise on the regulation and implementation of Liechtenstein's Blockchain Act, as well as get a better sense of how the US is approaching chances and risks of the digital economy, as well as US policy-making as it relates to blockchain and the digital/token economy. We are flexible to the times indicated in this request for January 26 or 27. Matt Keller |                                                                                       |

| Entity Mission/BackgroundWe're a blockchain oracle that allows smart contracts to access off-chain information.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |                                                                                       |
| Reason for Meeting RequestWe are a decentralized oracle on crypto networks, but a lot of our network has turned to being used for settlement prices for defi smart contracts. We'd love to know the regulations around providing settlement prices, tell you what we're doing, and as much as possible work to educate the crypto space on proper settlement prices for financial contracts. |                                                                                       |

I'm actively working with documentation groups that would like to understand Blockchain/DLT progress - for instance the ISDA CDM. For digital assets, our large custodian clients are asking to revise documentation records to support their go to market ambitions. One big use case I'm working on is ESG and enabling the attributes/provisions from contracts to be made available for stress testing.                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                        |
